DECLARATION: TRANSLATION ACCURACY

I am the Attorney of Record of the above-captioned application. Although I am not fluent in Japanese, my language skills are sufficient to attest to the accuracy of the attached translation. Further, I have been advised by native speakers of the Japanese language that the following statement is correct. The originally filed drawing pages 21/23, 22/23 and 23/23 contain Japanese language text. Specifically, there is a Japanese language character, an Arabic number and a second Japanese language character. The Japanese character to the left of the number is a symbol used in numbering to designate the order of things. There is no equivalent in the English language. The Japanese character to the right of the number means "figure". Therefore, the translation is "Figure X".

I hereby declare upon penalty of perjury that the attached translation is accurate and believed to be true. This statement is made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine and imprisonment, or both under Section 1001 of title 18 of the United States Code and that such willful false statements may jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issued thereon.
